Radon is a radioactive gas that forms naturally when uranium, thorium, or radium, which are radioactive metals break down in rocks, soil and groundwater. People can be exposed to radon primarily from breathing radon in air that comes through cracks and gaps in buildings/homes. Because radon comes naturally from the earth, people are always exposed to it. Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer after cigarette smoking.

Having a property tested is the only effective way to determine whether radon exists in and the level of radon within a property. For more information on radon and radon testing, see links below:

Further, per New Mexico law, radon mitigation companies must be licensed as general contractors to cut, core, bore, or drill through concrete. A majority of homes require this type of work to successfully complete a radon mitigation installation. Buyers and/or Sellers should determine if the radon mitigation work at issue requires a contractor's license. If licensure is required, Buyers and/or Sellers should confirm the professional hired for mitigation has any/all necessary licensures. BROKERS ARE NOT QUALIFIED TO DETERMINE IF THE WORK REQUIRES A CONTRACTOR'S LICENSE AND ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR DETERMINING IF THE RADON MITIGATION PROFESSIONAL HAS THE REQUIRED LICENSURE.
